

FCA Packaging Acquires Crate Tech, Inc.

30 OCTOBER, 2015

MOLINE, IL-(PRWEB)- FCA, LLC (“FCA Packaging”), a portfolio company of Delos Capital and leader in custom industrial packaging products and services, announced today the acquisition of Crate Tech, Inc. (“Crate Tech”). Crate Tech will continue to operate under the Crate Tech name as part of the FCA Packaging brand in this joining of companies.

Crate Tech is a full service, custom crating and packaging company that specializes in custom packaging of a variety of items, from aerospace products to household goods.

“FCA is excited to join forces with Crate Tech as we continue to provide the top industrial OEM’s in the country with the best custom-engineered packaging solutions,” said David Wilsted, CEO of FCA Packaging. “Crate Tech is a leader in aerospace crating. Together, our company will continue to be the premier industrial packaging provider of choice to our customers.”

Ray Fricks, President of Crate Tech said “We are excited about the next stage of our growth and development, and to be partnering with FCA. Crate Tech has a successful history of providing critical packaging products and services to both our large and small customers. The addition of FCA’s presence will allow us to grow and provide exceptional value to our customers in aerospace and other industries on a larger scale.”

About Crate Tech

Crate Tech, Inc. is a full service, custom crating and packaging supply company that specializes in custom crating and packaging to aerospace and other industries.

About FCA Packaging

FCA is the leading designer and manufacturer of highly customized packaging products and solutions for major original equipment manufacturers, serving such industries as non-residential construction, heavy duty engines, agriculture, mining and energy.

Visit: <http://www.prweb.com/releases/2015/10/prweb13007094.htm>
